The Four-Factor Formula

A crochet cap is a one-of-a-kind handmade piece, not a store-bought one, price it like it.

FACTOR	HOW TO CALCULATE IT
1. Materials	Add up the exact cost of yarn used by weight, not whole skein, plus findings, beads, interfacing, tassel cord.
2. Time	Track your hours honestly on your first 2-3 caps of each pattern , then multiply by a fair hourly rate, even $12-15/hr changes the number a lot.
3. Overhead	A small slice for wear on hooks/tools, packaging, and any selling-platform fees, Etsy, marketplace, payment processor.
4. Profit margin	Add 20-35% on top of the first three so growth is actually possible, not just break-even.

WORKED EXAMPLES

Put The Formula To Work

CLASSIC CROCHET VISOR CAP - PATTERN 1

$34-42 SUGGESTED RETAIL

Materials about $9, 150g cotton plus interfacing. Time about 3.5 hrs at $14/hr equals $49. Overhead about $3. At 100% of labor this totals about $61, but most sellers price at 55-70% of full labor value for a first-season item to stay competitive - landing in the $34-42 range, rising as demand and reputation grow.

FLOWER KEYCHAIN - BONUS MINI-PATTERN

$8-12 SUGGESTED RETAIL

Materials under $1. Time about 35-45 minutes. Priced as an accessible add-to-cart item that introduces new customers to your full-price caps.

THE MOST EXPENSIVE MISTAKE:

Pricing only to cover the yarn is the number one reason handmade sellers burn out, every sale technically loses money once your time is counted. Price for your time from the very first sale, even if it means selling fewer pieces at first.

— PROTECT YOUR MARGIN —

Raising Prices Over Time

- Every 10-15 sales of a pattern, raise the price 5-10%, demand at your current price is proof you can charge more
- Limited seasonal colorways, like the Sunflower Motif in a holiday palette, can carry a 15-20% premium over your standard line
- Custom sizing or color requests are a fair place to add a $5-10 custom-order fee

Price With Confidence.

Materials, time, overhead, profit. Run every pattern you make through the same four factors and never guess again.
