BUILDING YOUR SUPPLY LIST

Starter Kit

Everything for your first cap collection, under $60 total.

“You need one good cone of cotton, one hook, and the patience to make one full cap before you buy anything else.”

ITEM	WHERE TO LOOK	APPROX. COST
Worsted/DK cotton yarn, 2-3 colors	Local craft store or online, search worsted cotton yarn cone	$18-28
4.0mm and 3.5mm hooks	Any craft store, small ergonomic hook set	$8-12
Stitch markers, yarn needle	Bundled kits are cheapest	$5-8
Plastic canvas sheet or fusible interfacing	Craft store sewing section	$4-6
Small beads, tassel cord	Jewelry-making aisle or bead shop	$5-10

TOTAL STARTER SPEND:

Roughly $40-60 for enough materials to make 3-5 full caps, depending on the pattern and yarn weight. Make your first sale before spending more.

SCALING UP

Once You're Selling Regularly

Moving to wholesale once retail pricing starts eating your margin.

When you are making more than 4-5 caps a month, per-skein retail pricing starts eating into your margin. At that point, look for these three options.

- Cone yarn suppliers - cotton yarn sold by the pound/kg on cones is 30-50% cheaper per yard than retail skeins, search cotton cone yarn wholesale plus your country
- Craft co-ops or guild bulk buys - many local crochet/knit guilds run group orders, joining one can unlock wholesale pricing without a business account
- Findings in bulk - beads, keyring hardware and alligator clips are dramatically cheaper bought in packs of 50-100 once you are making the bonus mini-patterns regularly

WHAT TO AVOID: Skip acrylic yarn for anything that touches the face directly, like visor lining, it does not breathe like cotton and gets uncomfortable in warm weather. Also avoid buying a full wholesale cone before confirming you like that yarn's weight and twist, order one skein first.

What Sells First

Buy your first colors based on what actually moves, not what you love most.

Buy your first 2-3 colors based on what sells fastest in your local market or online audience. Neutral tones, cream, tan, sage, tend to move first because they pair with more outfits, while bold seasonal colors, sunflower gold, rust, work best as limited runs tied to a season.

COLOR STRATEGY

Neutrals first

cream, tan, sage, pairs with the most outfits, safest starting bet.

Seasonal accents

sunflower gold, rust, sell as limited runs tied to fall/holiday, not year-round stock.

Ready To Shop.

Start small, spend under $60 on your first kit, and scale up only once you have real orders to fill.
